

Studio Home creative

Tuesday, January 12, 2010

Oh Ohtel!

Oh my Ohtel!!!!its exciting when something special, unique and some what off the beaten kiwi sheep track arrives in our fair wee islands!! The Ohtel is a wonderful example of someone (Alan Blundell) grappling a bit of inspiration and flying forward into, what I foresee, is success!! An awesome mix of modern NZ architecture and design stirred around with classic modernist accents to equal a one of a kind boutique hotel in our nations capital, Wellington. Planning a trip??? Trawl the website!

UPDATE**

The fantastic interior design can also be credited to Wellington based design company www.esdesign.co.nz

Nikki said...

Ooh hi there!

Can I just take a moment and a little bit of comment space to also plug esdesign here (www.esdesign.co.nz) who were the interior designers for this hotel.

I was part of that team and had such a great time designing, sourcing and putting it all together! Check them out on Marion St in Wellington for a very cool design store with a mid century flavour, and to see all the other great projects they are currently working on!